

PALMIRAS 16

PROJECT OVERVIEW

This project proposes a contemporary residential building defined by clarity of form, lightness, and a strong relationship between interior and exterior space.

The volume is composed as a clean, white prism, shaped by a rhythmic stacking of floors and recessed balconies that create depth, shadow, and visual balance. The façade keeps minimal aesthetic, while relying on proportion and repetition. Large, full-height glazing spans in each level, allow natural light to penetrate deep into the interiors. Moreover, transparent glass balustrades reinforce the building's horizontal expression, emphasizing openness and continuity. As the building rises, integrated planters soften the geometry and introduce greenery, adding a human scale and enhancing environmental comfort. At the top level, a roof structure with horizontal louvers provides solar control, while completing the composition with a refined architectural crown.

The interiors are designed as warm, colourful, and light-filled living spaces, where daily life connects naturally with the building's clean exterior, offering comfort and spatial quality.
